

Is Population control of Low Income Families behind the push for Gardasil Vaccinations?

Four strains of HPV (Human papilloma virus) are contained in the Gardasil vaccinations that are being forced on the American population; HPV 1, 11, 16 and 18. Are these vaccines safe or do they pose a greater threat that has been yet exposed? We BioAcoustically explored this possibility and were shocked at the information contained near the chart at the end of this publication.

Gardasil is a series of injections provided (the present push is mainly to youngsters) as a prevention to cervical warts (contracted through sexual intercourse) and cancer. California recently passed a law allowing girls as young as 12 to submit to the three-series injections without parental permission even though adverse effects have been reported in large numbers (18,000+ along with over 100 deaths). Consequences that would fall on the shoulders of the parents.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) has recently approved Gardasil for boys as young as 9 years old – stating that even though boys do not contract cervical warts they may be carriers.

What could these people be thinking when they pass laws that support having sex with children as young as 9 years old?

Maybe the truth about our health administration's opinions is coming out to the public by way of the arrest of Dr. Kimberly Quinlan Lindsey, a top official with the CDC, for bestiality and multiple counts of sexual molestation of a six year old.

And why is a drug company pushing for laws that want children to go behind their parents backs to have the untested Gardasil vaccines injected?

Nicole Goodman, 18, a dancer and athlete during her days at Bourne High School, blames the Gardasil vaccine for putting her in a wheelchair. The Pocasset woman fell ill weeks after receiving her third shot. Two other young women from the Cape are also reporting illnesses.

Lisa Fayed, who represents herself as a freelance medical writer and patient advocate, denies that parents have a right to know that their child is receiving medical services. Her rationale is that children smoke marijuana, receive birth control and receive abortions behind their parent's backs so why should vaccinations be any different. So Lisa Fayed is arguing that three wrongs make a right!

Fayed also states that if parents had a good relationship with their children they would not be intimidated by this law. Fayed fails to realize the opposite would also be true. If drug companies had evidence supporting that these shots were safe and warranted, they would not be supporting the actions of children to go behind their parent's backs. In addition why offer these children the incentive of an iPod (expensive electronics) or computers if they will take the shots.

In my opinion, this is certainly aimed at low income families. The children from more affluent families would likely already have iPods; while the lower income pre-teens would certainly be tempted by the offer. Many pharmacies are also offering cash and coupons if a person will submit to the injections.

Why not go a step further – since 9-12 year old children should have control over their own bodies – let's just erase all of the laws that prevent sex with children, why don't we let these children choose whether or not they want to do to school, let's abandon all under age curfews, get rid of all laws that prohibit smoking, drinking alcohol, taking drugs, driving cars or operating over the road trucks. Let's also allow them limitless bank accounts and see what they do with the money. This paragraph is absolutely written in extreme jest to show the absurdity of what the government and large pharmaceutical companies are attempting to perpetrate on a trusting and often uninformed public.

A Quote from Dr. Diane Harper, lead researcher concerning Gardasil says that 70% of all HPV infections resolve themselves with a year, and within two years that percentage climbs to 90%. Dr. Harper also states that Gardasil would do little to prevent cancer and she does not recommend Gardasil or Cervarix (a similar vaccine) to anyone younger than 15.

Since research does not support this campaign of Gardasil vaccinations, what else could be the motive? The Gardasil movement in Texas brought some of the underlying motivation to the surface. Governor Perry mandated Gardasil for the State of Texas but public outcry shut that down. Later it was discovered that Perry and his campaign received over $300,000 from the pharmaceutical companies that were in support of mandated, massive Gardasil crusades but there seems to be an even more sinister reason?

Frequency medicine is making a comeback as part of our conventional medical theories. Gardasil components like any other medication is based on the frequencies of our compounds it contains. An evaluation of Gardasil components revealed that frequency bio-markers contained within the four available vaccines may have been produced to influence fertility and reproduction.

The “BioAcoustically Speaking” chart below shows that Gardasil targeted at low income children may be in hopes of causing population reduction.

BioAcoustically Speaking
Gardasil HPV vaccines influence
	Same Frequency as		Reproduction Relationship
HPV 1	parathyroid hormone		helps regulate calcium necessary for ovulation and fertility
HPV 11	lithium, valium		Dampening mood regulators
HPV 11	progesterone		hormone required to maintain pregnancy
	ATP and Measles virus		associated with male sterility
	Herpes		sexually transmitted disease associated with infertility
HPV 16	Vitamin A		an essential fertility nutrient
	NADPH		levels associated with male infertility
	calcitonin		helps regulate calcium necessary for ovulation and fertility
HPV 18	Estrogen and testosterone		Reproductive hormones
